

It is with sadness that I advise aeromodellers on my distribution lists that Gordon Burford passed away on Thursday 11 March in hospital, after a fall at home, caused by a stroke. He was 90 years of age.

Gordon designed and built the very popular range of Sabre and Taipan diesels and glo motors in his Australian factory. An excellent book has been recently published detailing all the motors designed by this talented man.

Gordon Burford was an interesting character, with a great personality and a genuine love of model aircraft.

He contributed more to Australian aeromodelling than any other. We'll all miss him.
